

Ms Madeleine Clare SHUTLER

LinkedIn Profile |

---

Education

- M.Soc.Sci (Geography) National University of Singapore (Expected May 2026)
- B.Soc.Sci (Hons) (Geography) National University of Singapore, 2022

---

Professional Experience

JAN 2024 – APRIL 2025

Research Assistant, Asia Research Institute, National University of Singapore

- I was a part-time Research Assistant on the Belt and Road Initiative and Student-Mobilities in China-Southeast Asia (BRISM) project where I assisted with post-data collection processing of data (transcripts and interview data), data analysis, writing of publications and the project final report, and the facilitation of two project workshops.

JULY 2022 – JAN 2024

Assistant Manager (Policy), Jurong Town Corporation (JTC)

- I was the project lead on the biannual pricing review for JTC's industrial land and facilities, a six-month process involving synthesis of data and research findings into multiple iterations of policy papers and presentations for the JTC directorate and ministerial officeholders. I led cross-departmental collaboration within JTC and with other government agencies to successfully deliver three cycles of the pricing review from 2022 to 2024.

MAY 2021 – JULY 2021

Research Intern, Centre for Liveable Cities (CLC)

- I synthesised research and data on Singapore's public healthcare, wellbeing, and age-friendly spaces, derived from extensive reading of historical and official documents, case studies on health and wellbeing, and other statistics.

---

Research Area/Topic/Discipline

- Migration Studies
- International Student Mobility
- Transnational Families
- Critical Race Studies
- Critical Mixed-race Studies

---

Short Biography

Madeleine Shutler is currently a Research Assistant in the Migration and Mobilities Cluster of the Asia Research Institute (ARI). Madeleine pursued Geography at the National University of Singapore, and her master's thesis explored how mixed-race youth in Singapore experience and negotiate race and belonging, both online (e.g. social media) and offline (e.g. physical materialities). Beyond critical mixed-race studies, Madeleine is also interested in migration and international student mobility, building on her prior research experience with the Belt and Road Initiative and Student-Mobilities (BRISM) project at ARI. Her research interests converge around questions of youth identity formation, liminality, and mobility within contemporary Asian contexts.

---

Publications

---

Refereed Article

Koh, S. Y., Shutler, M. C., & Yeoh, B. S. A. (2026). Racial sensemaking and international student mobility: mainland Chinese students in Singapore and Malaysia navigating multiculturalism and multiracialism. Ethnic and Racial Studies, 1–19.

Edited Journal Special Issue

Lee, K. H., & Shutler, M. C. (2025). Understanding Sino-Singapore educational exchanges: international student mobility and cross-border knowledge production. Asian Population Studies, 21(1), 46–61.

---

Awards/Grants and Distinctions

NUS Research Scholarship (2024 – 2026)